DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 8-11 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mizuno (U.S. Patent 5,939,218). The reference teaches an operation state determining apparatus and method for determining an operation state of a fuel cell. The voltage (VC) of the fuel cell is measured and compared to predetermined values Vmin (e.g., 0.4 V) and Vlimit (e.g., 0.12 V) (see col. 10, line 49). If VC is less than or equal to Vmin, then it is considered that oxygen is insufficient (see col. 8, line 22). Further, impedance is measured and it is determined that the fuel cell is in a dry state if the measured impedance ZIN is greater or equal to ZO (col. 8, line 43). As shown in Figs. 3 and 4, the voltage (VC) and the impedance (Zin) are measured a plurality of times after it is determined that VC is less than Vmin (i.e., VC is in an inappropriate voltage range).

Thus, the instant claims are anticipated.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-7 and 17-20 are allowed.
4. Claims 12-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The instant claims are directed to a method of and apparatus capable of determining an operation state of a fuel cell wherein a predetermined voltage is pre-set at a low value that is substantially impossible during a low oxidizing gas state and during a flooded state (claims 1, 6, 12, 14, and 15), or wherein it can be determined there is a possibility of a low oxidizing gas state or a low fuel gas state based on measured voltages being compared to two different predetermined voltages (claims 17 and 20). Mizuno, the closest prior art, teaches two predetermined voltage levels (V_{min} and V_{limit}) as noted above, but does not teach or fairly suggest that V_{limit} is based on any impossibility or possibility of the states of the fuel cell as recited in the claims (V_{limit} is determined based on hydrogen evolution on the cathode as disclosed in col. 11, line 8).
